A LEGEND, SINCE 1873

Franz Josef Bucher and Josef Durrer are the brave pioneers of the Bürgenstock Resort. In 1871, they bought the resort property on the Bürgenberg ridge. Bit by bit, the founders built the sites, parts of which are still standing today.

Stars including Sophia Loren, Sean Connery, and Audrey Hepburn and high-ranking politicians such as Konrad Adenauer and Jimmy Carter stayed at the resort high above Lake Lucerne. After the hotel facilities had become the subject of speculation in the 1990s, the cornerstone for the new Bürgenstock Resort was finally laid in 2008.

After 9 years of renovation, the Bürgenstock Resort Lake Lucerne reopened its doors in 2017 and is ready to create more history.
